Believe In you

13 December 2017

Dear parent/carers,

At Kepler we understand that attendance at school is central to your child's progress and achievement. This year we have introduced a number of different strategies in order to keep school attendance a key priority moving forward. We know that good attendance will allow your child the best chance of achieving, and exceeding their target grades.

Our newest strategy in dealing with day to day attendance is to introduce a telephone based system to complete first day calls to parents/carers. This automated calling system will enable the school to collate all absent learners and send an automated phone call to their parents/carers. It also allows parents/carers to respond using the same system. Repeated calls are delivered until a response is provided.

We believe this system will help the academy reduce unauthorised absence, improve punctuality and reduce administrative time chasing pupil absence. We would appreciate your cooperation with our new system as we seek to improve attendance and clarification of absence.

This system will go live on 8th January 2018.

Yours Sincerely,

Nicola Cooper
